The Misses Wickard's school for girls and kindergarten opens to-day at 510 and [illegible] North Tejon street

Mr Will H Bacon is taking the baths at Glenwood Springs, having been at the resort for the past ten days.

There will be Jewish service at [illegible] o'clock this evening at the usual hall conducted by Rev Young from Salt Lake City Utah

[illegible] Leslie in charge of Hagerman [illegible] reports that enough applications [illegible] now been received from new [illegible] to insure every room [illegible]

[illegible] County commissioner E E Nichols [illegible] wife are spending a few weeks at Old Point Comfort and other eastern re[illegible]

The chamber of commerce now has [illegible] of copies of "Colorado Springs, [illegible] rado, and its Famous Scenic En[illegible]," the new and beautiful souvenir [illegible]

[illegible] Nellie Downs, the young lady to [illegible] the gold watch was voted at the [illegible] holic fair, wishes to express her [illegible] to all who helped her in the [illegible]

The dome cap blew off of a lock[illegible] engine which was standing in the round house at Roswell last Sunday morning The result was a hole in the [illegible] of about twenty feet square

Postmaster Everleth has learned that the man George Erickson, who was reported dead at Butte, Mont., is a brother [illegible] Erickson, formerly a well known [illegible] of this place, but now of Black[illegible], Mont.

Reed Bros. yesterday sold the cottage known as No. 610 South Nevada avenue, from Rev Smith Sharp to J R Wev[illegible], for $1,500. They also sold a cottage on Fountain street from V Z. Reed to James L. Payne for $1,000.

Mining stocks were quite active yesterday. The Ophir is held steady at 19 cents, Mollie Gibson on account of the [illegible] is slowly creeping up again [illegible] quoted at 89, Anaconda slumped about 3 cents yesterday, and is quoted at 48 [illegible]

Dr. V. P English will deliver the last of his lectures to women only this afternoon in the Durkee hall at 3 o'clock This lecture is to married women and [illegible] of a marriageable age, and will be the most instructive lecture yet given by the doctor

Wm A. Pinkerton, head of the great Pinkerton detective agency, has presented Marshal Dana a handsome bound volume giving the history of the trip of Abraham Lincoln to Washington when he went to his first inauguration, and which was made secretly to frustrate plans for his assassination

At a meeting of the Crowell Hose company last evening a resolution was adopted favoring the plan of enlarging the water mains and increasing the number of hydrants and fire alarm boxes in the north end instead of purchasing and running a chemical fire engine The company also appropriated $[illegible] to help pay the Keeley institute expenses of a former member

The popular Hungarian orchestra will close their [illegible] at the Broadmoor Casino next Sunday evening, September 18 The management of the Casino have tendered the members of the orchestra a benefit and use of the Casino for Friday evening next. There will be a grand concert from 8 to 10 o'clock and dancing from 10 to 1[illegible] The tickets are 50 cents, and can be secured at the city drug stores, stationery and [illegible], and also at The Antlers [illegible] of the orchestra are quite popular, and their work is thoroughly appreciated so that they will undoubtedly have a large benefit.

The Mt. Rosa Mining company pur[illegible] yesterday a nine sixteenths in[illegible] in the Gold Coin lode, paying in the neighborhood of $9,000 for it. The company previously held the remaining portion of the lode. The Gold Coin is one of the most promising prospects in the Cripple Creek district, being an extension of the Dead Pine lode of the Ophir company, in which Mr J J Hagerman has just secured a controlling interest. Work has been ordered to commence on the development of the Gold Coin next week.

The Democrats from this city who went to Pueblo on Monday to the state convention returned in a not very happy frame of mind. They were instructed to help endorse the People's electors and most of them staid by their instructions until that was done but they got disgusted with the Patterson O'Donnell mob and staid by the Thomas crowd in the [illegible] of the voting A good joke is out on the People's party of this county They nominated a ticket last Wednesday, but the officers failed to certify the nomination to the county clerk within five days as the law requires. Now the Democrats met last Saturday and nominated the same set of men They will certify their nominations in time and the People's party will be endorsing their nominees. However, the People's party officers can only get their ticket before the county clerk by a petition so that the default in filing amounts to nothing [illegible] Company.

When the [illegible] company of entertainers appear at the opera house next Tuesday evening the citizens of this place will have the pleasure of seeing and hearing Laura Dainty the finest and most effective speaker on the lecture rostrum. Her clear musical voice her exquisitely beautiful enunciations and her straight forward delivery, animated but singularly free from the artificial straining for effect in details, so common to most of her guild—these quickly complete the charm which gives the reader [illegible] hold [illegible] a popular [illegible]

[illegible] THE PYTHIAS.

The Grand Lodge of Colorado in Session at Manitou.

The Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of the state of Colorado, convened at Manitou yesterday. The town was gaily decorated in their honor The walk in front of the Wheeler block has been remodeled for the occasion and Pythian emblems and banners placed upon it where the Templar emblems were before. There are about 600 knights and their ladies in town and more are expected to-day while a band and a drum corps fill the air with music

The knights began to come Monday night special trains arriving then from Leadville, and from [illegible] and Denver The Lead[illegible] division brought along the Silver State [illegible] drum corps, while the K P band of Greeley, composed entirely of knights, accompanied the Greeley. There are representatives present from nearly every one of the seventy-three lodges in the state The knights are quartered at the Barker while the uniform rank is at the Cliff. The [illegible] branches are nearly equally divided as [illegible] [illegible] of the uniform [illegible] C [illegible] Greeley Cheyenne Wells [illegible] Ouray and [illegible]

Among the [illegible] present are Grand [illegible] Grand [illegible] Miller [illegible] Springs Grand [illegible] Grand keeper of records and seals W S O'Brien of Buena Vista Assistant keeper of records and seals H B Gorman of Denver Grand master of exchequer G S McClelland of Hilo Springs Grand master-at-arms H P Beatt of Greeley Grand inner guard T L Ewing of Hugo Grand outer guard Charles Thomas of Aspen Grand lodge trustees R J Quinb of Leadville F J Strong and C L Davis of Denver Grand prelate Ralph Talbot of Denver Mr Howard Russell of Salida editor of the Colorado Pythian is also present

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the knights formed in line in front of the head quarters the Barker house and marched down Manitou avenue to Wheeler hall where an open meeting was held, Chancellor [illegible] H B Snyder of Manitou lodge presiding Mr Snyder introduced Mayor Barker, who made a short address, welcoming the knights to Manitou expressing the great [illegible] the people of the town took in having them present, and wishing them a pleasant and a beneficial grand lodge session

Grand chancellor J K Miller responded on behalf of the grand lodge, thanking the mayor for his kind words of welcome The Greeley K P band then played a selection Mr F E Boynton of Manitou lodge made an address of welcome on behalf of the Manitou lodge extending to the visitors the hearty welcome of their brother Pythians and extending to them an invitation to make themselves at home in Manitou and in the Knights of Pythias hall.

Grand vice-chancellor T H Devine of Pueblo made a witty and graceful response Captain Hinsdale of Ouray spoke on the uniform rank and its advantages, showing how that branch of the Pythian order was growing constantly all over the United States so that it promises to become one of the largest uniformed orders in existence

The Leadville drum corps closed the open meeting by a rattling tune

In the afternoon the grand lodge convened The time was spent in [illegible] credentials and in conferring the grand lodge degree on the past grand chancellors. In the evening Harmonie temple of Pythian Sisters of this city initiated the grand lodge officers into the order and exemplified the secret work

To-day the election will be held. The officers will be selected largely by promotion as is done by the Templars and Vice-Chancellor Devine will probably be chosen to succeed Mr Miller The grand lodge session will occupy the entire day to day In the evening the Manitou Mineral Water company will give the knights a reception on the upper floor of their big building.

No one knows better than I do—no one else can know—the measure of thought and toil and [illegible] he has put into this work of the [illegible] will not be content [illegible] at least [illegible] the [illegible].

Whatever [illegible] high [illegible] with my [illegible] tools for what this [illegible] city has [illegible] of the [illegible] city and the Pikes Peak [illegible] great [illegible] many [illegible] thought [illegible]

[illegible]

On [illegible] of [illegible] me for [illegible] been [illegible] several [illegible] of the [illegible] have found [illegible] papers [illegible] and long [illegible] of this town I have [illegible] public [illegible] how tonight is an assurance that all is forgiven, that nothing is [illegible] on that score. [illegible] that is a great load off my [illegible] conscience.

Once more, Mr President and gentlemen I thank you from my heart.

Mr Lunt read a letter of regret from Judge Campbell and later read letters from Hon C. P. [illegible] J. G. Shields, W. J. Wilcox and others who were unable to be present.

Mr Lunt arose and said there are some things which speak as well as words. Some of Mr Buckman's friends had thought that a dinner was not sufficient and that something more substantial should be tendered him, therefore they had contributed a sum of money, which was to be given him as a recognition in part of his faithful service. This purse amounted to $700. Amidst a storm of applause Mr Buckman arose and in a few words accepted the present. He was very much surprised, and very much affected. He said that he had known for a few days past of the little conspiracy to give him the dinner, but this latter part was more than he had anticipated.

Rev. Dr James B. Gregg was next introduced and made one of the brightest speeches of the evening. Dr. Gregg said that he was glad to be present, but half way regretted his acceptance since he found he would have to make a speech. Mr Lunt told him, however, he could make a speech on any subject that he chose. He felt like the old farmer who tried to lead a calf by tying a rope to its leg. After the calf had dragged him some distance the neighbors came to pick him up. One of them asked him why he did such a thing, and he replied that he was not more than half way across the lot before he realized his mistake. Dr. Gregg, however, was glad to have the chance to express his regards for George Buckman. He always liked George Buckman. If you like a man you always speak of him by his first name. He thought this town was like a certain town in New England. When asked what natural advantages it had, a citizen replied by giving the name of one of its leading men. This city has wonderful natural advantages and he could class among them George Buckman. Many men of great energy push along in the world and their way comes to be marked by enmities, but there was one delightful thing about Mr. Buckman's work in that it is marked by friendships. Mr. Buckman is one of those individuals of whom we are all proud. He spoke of several men who came to this city for their health and who have done so much for it. The growth of this town is a [illegible] fact on which we have not yet fully awakened. We are only beginning to realize what it will be. If as engineers say we will be traveling by electricity at the rate of 150 miles an hour in ten years, who will live in Pueblo? Denver will only be a suburb. Dr. Gregg in closing addressed some more complimentary remarks to the guest of the evening.

Mr Lunt made some amusing remarks to illustrate how Mr Buckman could stand off chamber of commerce creditors and pay bills without any money. He called upon Mr. J. A. Hayes to respond to the toast, "The Bank in Red Ink, or the Curse of the Chamber of Commerce." Mr Hayes made some very amusing remarks, in which he declared that Mr Barlow of the El Paso bank had come to him with Mr. Lunt's watch and Mr Buckman's overcoat to find out how much money he would loan the chamber of commerce on them. Mr. Buckman had recently come to him for a little advice. The chamber of commerce had offered to raise his salary, and as he had been working twelve months in the year without being able to collect a cent of it, if they raised his salary what was he to do about it, as he could not work thirteen months. Mr. Hayes also paid a tribute to the work of Mr Lunt as president of the chamber of commerce. He thought that in the last few months Mr Buckman had compelled the people of the city to see that they must support the chamber of commerce. It is a necessity and the past summer he established the fact that we must give to the chamber of commerce not only the yearly dues, but largely outside of that. We have not spent much this summer in advertising, but look what has been accomplished. He hoped that they would all do as much as lies in their power to aid those who are doing so much for the city.

Some reference having been made to the necessary begging which the chamber of commerce has had to do, Dr Gregg arose and made a little statement. He said that he had recently calculated that during the last five or six years the residents of this town had given away to churches, sanitariums and such public institutions $450,000. This was not calculating the regular maintenance of these institutions.

Mr. Hunt next called on President W. F. Slocum of Colorado college. Mr Slocum said that he was always put to a disadvantage in having to follow his friend Dr Gregg in an address. To illustrate he told a little incident that occurred while they were traveling together in the southern part of the state. Mr Slocum said it was very interesting to read of the building of the ancient cities, but it is even more startling and interesting to hear the stories of the building of these new towns. When he thought of what had been accomplished in this city he could realize how he was a [illegible]. The [illegible] city in the past will not compare with its future. Last year while in England he was astonished to find how well Colorado Springs was known. People did not know of Denver and Pueblo, but only of Colorado Springs. Mr Slocum spoke pleasantly of Mr Buckman's work and how it had assisted him in making known the institution which he represents. In conclusion he thanked the managers of the entertainment for the privilege of being here and referred feelingly to what the citizens had done for Colorado college.

Mr Lunt spoke of the press and said that the chamber of commerce could not do [illegible] and called upon Mr Charles S. Sprague of The Republican [illegible] graph to respond for the press. Mr Sprague said that he was glad to have the opportunity to add his testimony as to what Mr. Buckman had done. When coming there he had had a vision of a [illegible] railroad train. This train is a figure [illegible] Springs. It has moved rapidly, but often has struck grades where its speed was lessened. The cars [illegible] the [illegible] of the city. In that train there is an engineer who is [illegible] the secretary of the chamber of commerce. He has taken the city on to [illegible] and will lead it to success.

Mr [illegible] of the generosity of the [illegible] to all the schemes of the chamber of commerce. He would [illegible] and called upon Mr [illegible] E. Ehrich to respond. Mr Ehrich [illegible] telling speech saying [illegible] witty things about the mining fever. After describing various fevers he [illegible] the mining fever the worst [illegible] the chill [illegible] from the psalmist [illegible] the heavens is all [illegible] will tell [illegible] of the mining fever of the year [illegible]. The reason he [illegible] he said was because Mr Buckman was the only man in town who did not have a mining scheme last spring. Secretary Buckman has demonstrated his fitness for the position so well that under certain conditions the office should be made hereditary. Mr Ehrich was glad of this banquet and thought it right, for it expresses the gratitude which the citizens should and do feel for the secretary's work, and because it will also develop the spirit of community. He remembered how dull and listless this city was in [illegible], when its highest achievement was the Huerfano street bridge. He went on to speak of what had been accomplished since, naming the various ways in which it has developed. All this has been done by faith and the spirit of community. It is only the beginning, however. In conclusion he offered a toast to the spirit of community.

Mr. Lunt thought Hon. Irving Howbert could probably tell what the city would be if Mr Buckman had been here thirty years ago to act as secretary of the chamber of commerce. Mr Howbert said he was glad to be here and bear testimony to the efforts of Mr. Buckman. Before he went away this summer he thought he recognized what a work there was to be accomplished to keep the people from going away dissatisfied. He was afraid the town would be injured instead of benefitted, but he was glad to learn from various sources how well the visitors were cared for. He was proud to live in a town with such wide awake people.

Mr Lunt asked Dr S. E. Solly to speak on climate. Dr. Solly made one of his characteristic speeches, and soon had the crowd in a jolly humor by his references to the profession and the climate. He thought George Buckman ought to be suppressed as he is taking all the snap and go out of the people. The speaker formerly did a great deal toward writing up and booming the town, but lately he had gotten into the habit of saying, "Oh well, George will do that." That is a bad habit, for each man must do his share.

Count James Pourtales was the next speaker introduced. He said that recently the Broadmoor company has elected nine directors, and whenever there is to be anything done they appoint a committee. No committee has yet been appointed on speech making, or he would probably not have been selected. After some very pleasant remarks, the count spoke of Mr. Buckman's work in getting the subscriptions to open the Casino this year.

Mr. E. S. Wooley thought the young men of Colorado Springs had a great deal to thank Mr. Buckman for this year. His work had occasioned a great many of them going to the bank and not to get a loan on their watches and overcoats either. Mr. J. E. McIntyre followed Mr. Wooley in some very pleasant remarks.

Mr. Lunt, in introducing the next speaker, said that there was one present who had seen the town grow from almost nothing, and the advantages accumulate. He introduced Hon. H. A. Risley, who spoke as follows:

Mr. President and Gentlemen—I am grateful for the privilege of being with you this evening, and uniting in this testimonial of respect to Mr. Buckman. Never was such a testimonial more cordially offered to a public servant more faithful and deserving, whose duties have been more earnestly, ably and successfully performed.

I dare not trust myself to any extemporaneous expression of my sentiments upon a subject in regard to which I feel so much and so deeply the debt of gratitude we owe to Mr. Buckman for his unselfish, untiring and persistent labors for Colorado Springs. I shall as soon think of giving expression to my sentiments without first writing them down, as they would think of printing them at the Telegraph and Gazette offices without first setting them up. So I close with offering a sentiment on behalf of invited guests, which I am sure will be accepted with sincerity and earnestness:

The gentlemen who inaugurated and have so successfully executed the purpose of this merited tribute to one so eminently worthy and deserving.

Mr V. Z. Reed responded on behalf of the real estate men present. He spoke of the depression there was in the city two years ago after the Baring Bros.' failure. At that time a few physicians in the east had read some of Dr Solly's papers on Colorado Springs, and Mr. Ehrich's writings. They formed the chief literature regarding the town and a few physicians sent patients here. Now the people of the east not only the doctors but others, are familiar with the place and are sending their relatives and friends. This is all due to Mr Buckman's efforts. This city is increasing at the rate of a thousand people a month Mr Reed declared or has been for the last two or three months. This city has been running in debt for the last year or more, not only in money but in gratitude to George R. Buckman.

Mr. Frank White made a very short but earnest speech, in which he urged upon all present the necessity of working together more earnestly for the benefit of Colorado Springs. Then the speaking became quite informal, and Messrs. Connor, Barnes, Solly and Lunt told stories or made short speeches.

In a few pleasant words regarding the guest of the evening, the work of the chamber of commerce and the future of Colorado Springs, Mr Lunt closed the addresses of the evening. Altogether the occasion was one of the most pleasant of the kind ever known in Colorado Springs. The speeches were informal, but bright and clever. All departed for home at midnight feeling that they had enjoyed a most delightful evening in honoring one to whom honor was due.

REST AT LAST.

The Normannia's Passengers Landed on Fire Island

FORCE WAS NOT NECESSARY

The Bay Men Abandon Their Position Before the Militia and Reserves—The Injunction Dissolved—Night Scenes Among Passengers

New York, Sept. 13.—At half past 9 o'clock this morning the situation of affairs at Fire Island and in this city was grave, but tending only in one direction. The Cepheus, with her cargo of helpless women and delicate children was still anchored in the channel off Fire Island, and their sufferings during the night are described as having been intense. Men paced the deck all the night or reclined upon benches, snatching a few hours of restless sleep. The women and children crying and praying, huddled together in the warmest corners to be found, or slept the sleep of exhaustion upon the seats of the excursion boat, if lucky enough to secure such points of vantage. Delicate ladies tried to rest upon camp stools, or even upon the floor, and one and all bitterly bewailed their harsh fate and the diabolical hardheartedness of the bay men of Long Island. It was only after the most earnest prayers that the latter allowed some food to be sent to the half famished passengers whom they had condemned to either starve or go back to New York.

Cold, hunger and exposure would certainly, it would seem, have developed any cholera germs which might have strayed among the unhappy saloon passengers of the Normannia, but as yet no case of the disease has been reported among them, or among the second cabin passengers who are sharing their fate. But many of them will suffer for months, and for years as a result of their cruel experiences off Fire Island.

These helpless people, the prisoners of the state, have been treated by these Long Islanders as bad as shipwrecked crews have been treated by the savages of uncivilized islands, and yet the land, the island or sand bar upon which the bay men refuse to permit these unfortunate people to set foot is situated five miles by water from the nearest settlement.

The Injunction Dissolved.

New York, Sept. 13.—The supreme court, general term, Kings county, this afternoon dissolved the injunction of Judge Barnard prohibiting the use of Fire island by the Normannia's passengers.

As soon as Governor Flower heard of the vacation of the injunction he sent a dispatch to the captain of the Cepheus telling him of the fact and ordering him to land his passengers at once. He also ordered the sheriff of Suffolk county to lend every aid in his power by enlisting law abiding citizens to assist in the landing of the Normannia's passengers.

A third dispatch was sent to the sheriff saying that troops were already on the way to enforce the power. The military force of investment will equal a thousand men. This is the first time the naval reserve has been called out for active duty and they will be given an opportunity to show what they can do as active militia.

Late in the afternoon the executive expressed himself as satisfied with the day's events. The special committee of the chamber of commerce appointed to co-operate with the health authorities in matters relating to quarantine, met to-day for the purpose of taking further steps in their self-imposed duty. A resolution was adopted in which the committee state that they deem it prudent to raise a fund of at least $250,000 to be placed at their disposal for use in case of need in the present emergency.

REST AT LAST.

The Normannia's Passengers Landed on Fire Island.

New York, Sept. 13.—The cabin passengers of the Hamburg-American steamship Normannia, whose unenviable experience of the past few days has attracted to them widespread attention and sympathy, have at last reached a haven of rest and safety. Late this afternoon, for the first time in many days, their feet touched mother earth, and to-night they are quartered at the Surf hotel, on Fire Island, surrounded by all the comforts of a home and by a cordon of soldiers, who will protect them from the attacks, the hoots and the jeers of the brutal residents of the bay shore. The landing was not affected without a great deal of trouble on the part of Governor Flower, Dr. Jenkins and those others who have jumped into the breach at this time of peril and anxiety. The governor was awake late at night devising schemes to relieve the passengers of the Normannia from their hazardous position. The best of legal advice was sought by him, and the conclusion was reached that the injunction would not stand. Acting on this theory, the governor ordered the naval reserve and several companies of the Sixty-ninth and Thirteenth regiments of state militia to go to Fire Island to quell the turbulent spirit which existed among the bay men, whose heartless action regarding the unfortunate passengers had caused the people throughout the entire country to shudder. This action taken, the troops advanced, and the supreme court, general term, Kings county, was appealed to to dissolve the injunction obtained yesterday restraining the landing of the passengers, after argument pro and con, the court promptly acceded to the appeal.

The news was at once telegraphed to Fire Island and to those on board the Cepheus. It caused great joy to the anxious ones on the steamboat and corresponding consternation among the brutal residents of Islip, Babylon and other points near by. The persons who had been "protecting their rights" changed their minds upon this subject in very short order and began leaving Fire Island in small boats for their homes on the shore. The piteous appeals of the unfortunate passengers could not move these sturdy clam diggers last night, but when they heard troops would soon be on the scene they moved from the island in a hurry and soon the place was comparatively deserted.

The health officers and state officials then (2 p. m.) began preparations for the reception of the passengers on board the Cepheus.

When the news reached the quarantined passengers that the work of transferring was about to begin, they crowded to the rail and gave one yell of happiness. It could have been heard for miles around. The band on the Cepheus struck up 'Red, White and Blue'' and the cheering kept up for over five minutes. It was a long roar of delight. When the shouts were answered by the reporters and health officers on the docks, it was answered again and again from the people on the boat.

The natives were not visible. Most of them have not been seen since noon, when they went home for dinner and very few showed up again. It was a complete collapse of their stand and it showed that if several policemen had entered ashore when the Cepheus tried to make a landing yesterday that the mob would have fallen back in disorder. It was only bluster and brag after all that kept them together, and when they saw enough men were there to meet their number they fell away like chaff before the wind. The passengers from the Cepheus were landed between 5 and 5:30 p. m. They were a happy lot. The chambermaids and French waiters at the Surf hotel had American flags and waved them most vigorously while their [illegible] ing was lusty and almost incessant, three cheers being proposed for Governor Flower and heartily responded to, [illegible] of delight by playing most vigorously. Three cheers were given Mr Wall who has charge of the Surf hotel, Mr Tayler, the captain of the Cepheus and for the Normannia committee. The greatest excitement prevailed. Women who had borne up so long appeared to lose all self-control in the joyous moment and shouted and jumped about like a number of school children. The contagion of the spirit of good fellowship was everywhere noticed, women embracing each other and men grasping each other's hands as comrades after a declaration of peace.

Deaths in Hamburg.

Hamburg, Sept. 13.—The day has been sultry and almost stifling. The thermometer has risen to 32 degrees C. The increasing heat has lengthened the list of sick and of dying and has depressed again the reviving spirits of the poor. The number of fresh cases has been 721 or 21 more than yesterday. In the cholera hospitals there are 3,123 patients or 317 more than yesterday. Three-fourths of the patients are women and children from the poorest families who had been weakened by insufficient clothing and lack of proper nourishment.

The relief committee report to-day that they have received 1,000,000 marks from different parts of the empire. At the same time they appeal for more contributions as the suffering continues daily.

The number of burials to-day has been 301, a slight increase over the number yesterday. The dead wagons are up to all present requirements and bodies are carried to the cemeteries almost as fast as the patients die.

Santa Fe Workmen in Conference.

Chicago, Sept 13.—The members of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers of the Santa Fe system continued their session to-day at the Grand Pacific hotel. Second-vice president Robinson was again present, and the discussion of the grievances was not as harmonious as Mr. Robinson implied in the information given out Monday. While the men maintain the strictest secrecy with regard to the nature of their conference, two of their number declared that it was not wise to have a one-sided account of their proceedings published, and gave their own statement in these words: "It is absolutely wrong to say that our grievances have been amicably settled. We do not come here with any other intention than that of having a peaceful settlement, but if certain grievances are not remedied then serious results may follow. As to the nature of these grievances I will tell you this much, the main ones relate to wages and the rules which we are now compelled to work. These matters are unsatisfactory as they now stand and so far Mr. Robinson has not showed a willingness to come to our view of the situation. As we have said, if there be no improvement, serious results may follow. We should not have opened our lips with reference to the subject were it not for Mr. Robinson having spoken. Our conference may last a month yet, while it may end in a day."

An evening session was held and before it adjourned two important points were gained, by the men, not, however, till after a rather stormy scene. The two points are an increase of wages and a guarantee to restore to their positions some engineers and firemen who according to the declaration of their colleagues were unjustly dismissed. When the session closed Mr. Robinson announced his intention of returning to his duties at Topeka. Mr. Player of the motive power department will now take the place of Mr. Robinson in the negotiations with the men.

After the session a meeting of the men was held at McCoy's hotel for the purpose of reviewing the situation. Greenwood as well as all his colleagues were very slow to supply any information. Greenwood, however, told this much: "We have gained two points, one with reference to wages and another with reference to the reinstatement of dismissed employees. I cannot go into any further details because there has to be another joint session before the matter is ratified. There are a dozen other matters yet to be dealt with." Mr. Robinson, who left on the 10 o'clock train to-night, said: "So far as the men speak we have come to a perfect settlement. I do not know anything of what the men may do. So far as I am concerned the conference is ended."

The tone in which Mr. Robinson spoke showed that he was not in the most agreeable frame of mind.

Street Railway Accident.

St. Louis, Sept. 13.—A terrible street railroad accident occurred in the southern part of the city between 9 and 10 o'clock this morning, in which two people were killed and thirteen more or less injured. It appears that while a train, consisting of an electric motor and a trailer car, were coming down a steep grade on the State and Sidney streets branch of the Union Depot line, near the corner of Ninth and Russell streets, the motorman lost control of his car, and his train rushed down the decline at a frightful speed. At Ninth and Russell streets is a sharp curve. On turning this the trailer, which was crowded with passengers, was derailed and turned over, and all its passengers were hurled to the ground with great force. Two of the passengers were killed outright and thirteen injured, some of them fatally, but their names have not been ascertained.

Kaiser William Interviewed.

London, Sept. 13.—The Standard's Berlin dispatch says "Emperor William in his interview with Mr. Steinway gave that gentleman the impression that a visit by him to the Chicago fair would depend upon the state of European and home politics. Mr Steinway was surprised at the emperor's knowledge of the position of Germans in America. Referring to the fight against the cholera and to the supremacy of Washington government over the individual states, the emperor remarked that he wished the same system was fully in force in Germany. It was so, he said, regarding animals, and it must soon also be so for the uniform treatment of human epidemics. He begged Mr. Steinway to convey his kind regards to Mr John Bigelow and his regrets for Mr Poultney Bigelow's illness. When some months ago the emperor hinted to his private circle his desire to visit Chicago it was suggested that a secret visit be made while somebody personated him on a tour to the North Cape, but the suggestion found no favor. Many people think there is no less objection to be made to the emperor's going to Chicago than there was to the czar's visit to the Paris exposition.

President Harrison Anxious.

Loon Lake House, N. Y. Sept. 13.—President Harrison makes no effort to conceal his anxiety over the condition of Mrs. Harrison and has been at her bedside during the entire day. The whole family share his deep concern and all are evidently apprehensive of a continuance of the present unfavorable symptoms.

Shot by a Cowboy.

Garrison, Colo., Sept. 13.—Loren B. Howell, a cowboy, shot a farmer named D. M. Woodard, from the effects of which the latter died soon afterwards. The trouble dates back sometime, when Howell's father and Woodard quarrelled over a business matter, at that time Woodard took a shot at old man Howell and failed to hit him. Howell has been arrested.

Closed by the Sheriff.

Leadville, Colo., Sept. 13.—Fred Butler's palace of fashion, one of the largest dry goods houses in the city, was closed by Sheriff Kennedy this morning. The first attachments were made by Butler Bros., the American National Bank of Denver, and the Carbonate Bank of [illegible]. These attachments amount to [illegible].

POLITICAL POINTS.

The Democratic Democrats Nominate a State Ticket

SENATOR PEFFER'S WILD TALK

A Republican Convention in Oklahoma the Scene of a Tragedy—Senator Hill to Make a Campaign Speech in Brooklyn.

Pueblo, Sept 13.—The Clay Land faction of the Democratic party reassembled again this morning and nominated the following ticket: For governor, J. K. Maupin of Fremont county; for lieutenant governor, William McMasker of Arapahoe county; for attorney general, W. P. Skelton of Washington county; for auditor, J. H. Fox of Las Animas county; for treasurer, C. P. Nolan of Mesa county; for superintendent of public schools, B. Mc[illegible]; for regents, Henry Johnson and W. B. Champion; for presidential electors, James N. Carlile of Pueblo county, Charles [illegible] of Huerfano county, James Shrine and Ansie Watrous of Larimer county.

Choctaw Political Troubles.

Caddo, I. T., Sept 13.—News has reached here that seven men have been murdered since yesterday morning in the Choctaw Nation, incidental to political war feeling. It is feared that the worst has not come yet. Governor Jones came to town and wired for United States Indian agent Leo Bennett, who came in on a freight train at 6 o'clock last night and is in consultation with Governor Jones, Lieutenant-Governor Bryant, Senator Hodges, National-agent Wright and a number of prominent Indians. What they have decided to do has not been made public. Agent Bennett insisted that he call out a troop of United States cavalry to arrest all parties engaged in the riot and to keep the troops in readiness to go to the national council meeting when the governor is to take his seat.

It seems that a plot has been laid to kill all the prominent Indians on the Jones side, each squad of assassins to have its own county to work in. The men in Gaines county have carried out their instructions. As the other men have not carried out their part of the plot the leaders appear to be perplexed and do not know what to do. They are to have another secret meeting at Antlers on September 21, for what purpose is only known to themselves. Governor Jones has sent twelve men from this place to the seat of the trouble. He is in constant fear of being killed and keeps a heavy guard around him all the time.

A Detailed Account.

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 13.—An accident occurred at the opera house this afternoon which resulted in the serious injury of three men and the bruising and battering up of a score of others, yet the wonders are that the results were not more serious. The Republican county convention was in session and just as the committee on credentials was reporting a gallery, which was swung above the main floor by iron rods gave way in the center and fell upon the crowd below. One of the irons remained intact and so checked the descent of the gallery so as to allow part of the crowd to escape, though in the panic many were trampled upon and badly bruised and injured. W. C. Roy of Orlando was caught by falling timbers and fatally injured. Judge W. T. Mahara had a rib broken and an arm crushed. Albert Jennings suffered internal injuries. The gallery was a regular death-trap, and several heavy damage suits will be instituted against the owner of the opera house.

Senator Peffer's Wild Talk.

Kansas City, Sept. 13.—Senator Peffer of Kansas passed through the Union depot this morning en route to Pleasanton, Kas., where he delivers a political speech this evening. In an interview he said the People's party would carry all the silver states. He said the reform party would carry many of the southern states. "Our majority in Kansas will be anywhere from 25,000 to 40,000. I think there is no doubt of Jerry's election. The present state of national politics is so mixed that I hardly think it profitable to venture an opinion as to the result. It may be Cleveland and it may be Weaver. Harrison has very little prospect of election. If settled outside of the house Cleveland will be the man, but if decided in the house the great popular uprising in favor of Weaver may change the mind of many Southern Democrats already elected and make them fear to thwart the will of the people by voting for Cleveland.

Senator Hill Will Speak.

New York Sept. 13.—Thos. E. Pearsall, chairman of the Democratic committee of Kings county, announced yesterday afternoon that Senator D. B. Hill had formally accepted the invitation of the Democrats of Kings county to address them on the issues of the presidential campaign at a meeting to be held in the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, on Monday evening next.

Democratic Losses in Maine.

Portland, Maine, Sept. 13.—A conservative summary with three towns unestimated, in the first district, gives Reed for congress about 1,050 plurality, 131 out of 151 legislative districts give 98 Republicans and 33 Democrats in the house. Last year the house had 110 Republicans and 41 Democrats. The senate will probably stand 29 Republicans 2 Democrats. This indicates Democratic loss in both branches.

Amendments Carried.

[illegible], Sept. 13.—The prospects are that the two amendments to the constitution requiring an educational qualification for voters and the appointment of the adjutant general by the governor are both carried, although the vote on each was very light.

Brought Down the House

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 13.—During the Republican convention which was being held in the McKinnon Opera House this afternoon, the balcony fell upon the heads of the delegates below, fatally injuring a number of men and seriously injuring a large number.

The New York Reapportionment Law.

Buffalo, Sept. 13.—The decision in the Monroe county apportionment cases, which was argued at the extraordinary session of the general term and held in this city August 16, was handed down to-day. The opinion of Judge Rumsey, of the supreme court, which declared the reapportionment unconstitutional was confirmed.

A Tin Plate Celebration.

Elwood, Ind., Sept. 13.—A heavy rainfall beginning last night and continuing without cessation until this afternoon has interfered seriously with the monstrous Republican campaign on the opening of the American tin plate factory in this city. The rain of course prevented the expected influx of visitors, and Governor McKinley himself did not arrive from Indianapolis until afternoon. He was accompanied by Governor Chase of Indiana, Chairman John C. Goody of the Republican state committee, ex-Congressman [illegible], Hon. R. R. Shiel, Col. T. H. Nelson of Terre Haute, H. S. New of Indianapolis, and more prominent state politicians. Governor McKinley's speech this afternoon was devoted almost entirely to the tin plate question, and to a vindication of Republican tariff legislation on that subject.

Rockaway Hotel Burned.

New York, Sept. 13.—The Seaside House hotel at Rockaway, L. I., was burned to the ground early this morning. The loss is estimated at [illegible].
